Ideal SPAC Target Checklist

CHARDAN

1 Public company readiness:

- Corporate governance, depth of finance team, human resources, investor relations / communication
- Public company infrastructure in place; internal controls and system readiness (e.g. handling public company reporting and adhering to regulatory standards)

2 Anchor Investor(s): Current or other investors to participate in SPAC merger

- Purchase shares in the open market or commit to buy newly issued shares (PIPE) at business combination

3 Financials:

- Audited financials - investors will require PCAOB(1) audits 3 years or at minimum 2 years and a stub
- Investors will require only big 4 auditors or adjacent (Grant Thornton, BDO)
- Updated financial projections
- Use of proceeds statement

4 Marketing Materials:

- Executive summary (Teaser): One to two page executive summary
- Management presentation
  - ~ 15-20 slides summarizing business for investor meetings
  - Any necessary detailed technical, scientific, or other supporting appendices

5 Online Virtual Data Room:

- Key legal and financial documentation and supportive due diligence information
- Available to investors under NDA

Key Steps and Characteristics in the SPAC Merger Process (1 of 2)

CHARDAN

Pre-Merger

- SPAC IPO's typically attract funds seeking a structured return, not fundamental investors; the investor base turns over prior to and immediately after the merger
    - SPAC's typically have a 24 month term to execute a merger or SPAC would dissolve (e.g. sponsor capital at risk)
- Marketing process can occur in any environment and be done confidentially
    - The issuer/target gets transparent investor feedback: Due diligence isn't rushed, so positive market demand is visible by way of higher pre-merger stock prices – this is tangible feedback not subject to banker interpretation (i.e. "we have a strong/weak book")
    - Management able to share projected financials, which provides greater insights for investors (and more transparent feedback for management) unlike traditional IPO process
    - Merging with a public SPAC is highly controlled and managed process during which deal terms can be adjusted depending on investor demand

Key Steps and Characteristics in the SPAC Merger Process (2 of 2)

CHARDAN

At Merger

- At the time of the merger between a target and a SPAC, public SPAC shareholders investors have Two Choices:

  1) Vote Yes/No in favor of the merger

  - BUT: Every rational investor will vote "Yes" to retain optionality and preserve warrant value

  2) Redeem their shares from trust for $10.00 plus net interest (or sell to a higher bidder)

  - No rational investor will redeem if the market price is substantially above trust value
  - Fundamental investors will bid up the price of SPAC shares before the merger, provided they see good value and no risk that the merger will not close; early investors will sell

- Governance favors the "Target" who generally emerges with substantial majority control

- For properly valued deals, fundamental buyers see good value in the new public company; they replace pre-merger owners through:
  - Open market purchases
  - Structured transactions
